

On October 13, 2010, President Barack Obama signed the Plain Writing Act of 2010 (Act) into law. The Act promotes the goals of the President's Open Government Initiative and calls for writing that is clear, concise, and well organized. By complying with the requirements outlined in the Act, we will create an environment that further supports government transparency, public participation, and collaboration.

We believe that all forms of communication are most effective when clear and easily understood. We offer this portal as a direct link to training and resources on plain language.

TRAINING RESOURCES

Visit www.ssalm.com to view training VODs, online lessons, and books. First-time users should review the LMS Quick Help Guide.

Mandatory Training VODs:

Principles of Plain Language (Part 1)

Principles of Plain Language (Part 2)

Principles of Plain Language Exercise Workshop

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

OMB Final Guidance on Plain Writing

PlainLanguage.gov

Center for Plain Language Non-profit Organization

Quality Initiative for Commissioner's Correspondence

Plain Language Promos

OL Website

Provide Feedback

Site Map

Contact Us

Atlanta

Chicago

Denver

New York

San Francisco

Boston

Dallas

Kansas City

Philadelphia

Seattle

Regional Training

socialsecurity.gov

Office of Central Operations
Office of Systems

SSA Links

SSA Intranet

Office of Public Service and Operations Support