Important Information

Date: _____ BNC#: _____

We are writing to you because we believe you may have recent self-employment work activity and we need to know more about this work activity.

One of Social Security's top priorities is to support the efforts of applicants and beneficiaries with disabilities who are or who want to work. The Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) programs include several employment support provisions commonly referred to as work incentives, or special rules that help you to receive, or continue to receive benefits even if you are working. We need more information to see if any of these incentives apply to you. If you are just now applying for disability benefits, the information you provide helps us decide if you can receive benefits. If you are currently receiving disability benefits, the information you provide helps us decide if your benefits can continue.

Information about Work and Earnings

Our records show that you may have self-employment income.

Common types of self-employment include:

- Owning your own business, Sole Proprietorship/Corporation
- Owning a business with another person, Business Partnership
- Independent Contractor
- Freelancing for another business
- Gig Work, such as:
  - Ride share driving services
  - Food delivery services
  - Internet content creator/influencer
  - Musicians/Photographer/Artists
- Any job for which one receives form 1099-NEC instead of form W2 for IRS tax filing purposes.

The information we ask for includes:

- Self-Employment History: This includes the dates you worked, net earnings from self-employment, and any pay you received working as an independent contractor for another person or company (e.g., driver, delivery, consulting, etc.).
- Special Self-employment Conditions: If you receive free help in your business, we may be able to deduct the reasonable value of that help from your net income. Also, if another person, agency or business provides items or services to you, free of charge, we may be able to deduct the reasonable value of those items or services from your net income.
- Work Expenses related to your disability: If you are self-employed and have a disability, you may need certain items or services to assist you (e.g., co-pays for prescription drugs, medical device expenses, special transportation, counseling fees, expenses related to a service animal, etc.) Note: Do not include anything that you will include as a business expense on your annual tax return.
