

You May Be Able To Save $1,735.20 Or More In Medicare Costs!

If you can't afford Medicare premiums or other medical costs, you may be able to get help. Medicare Savings Programs may help pay Medicare Part A (Hospital Insurance) and Medicare Part B (Medical Insurance) premiums, deductibles, coinsurance, and copayments. Extra Help is a Medicare program that may help pay Medicare prescription drug (Part D) deductibles, premiums, and copayments. You need to enroll in a Medicare Prescription Drug Plan to get Extra Help.

Easy Enrollment

If you file an application for Extra Help, you don't have to file a separate application to get help from your state. Social Security will send information to your state to find out if you qualify for a Medicare Savings Program. Social Security won't send information if your Extra Help application shows you're not interested in Medicare Savings Programs.

Am I Eligible For A Medicare Savings Program?

To qualify for a Medicare Savings Program, your monthly income and total resources (like money in a bank, stocks, or bonds) must be at or below the amounts shown in this table:

Medicare Savings Programs
2020 Monthly Income Limit*
Single	Married (living together)
$1,456	$1,960
2020 Total Resource Limit
Single	Married (living together)
$7,860	$11,800

* The income limits are higher in Alaska and Hawaii. Many states allow you to have more income than the figures listed above. If you or your spouse work, some of your earned income won't be counted in determining your eligibility.

 Some states allow you to have more resources and some states may have no resource limit at all. Your house, car, and up to $1,500 per person in burial expenses don't count as resources.
