

Program Data

Social Security

The Social Security program—Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance (OASDI)—provides monthly benefits to workers and their families when the worker retires, dies, or becomes disabled. The amount of the worker's retirement insurance (old-age) or disability benefit is based on the worker's level of earnings in employment or self-employment covered by the Social Security program. Monthly benefits are payable to retired workers at age 62 (with reduced benefits) or to disabled workers at any age. The benefit amount for an auxiliary or survivor beneficiary is based on a percentage of the worker's benefit. Auxiliary and survivor beneficiaries must generally meet an age, disability, or child care requirement.

A total of 47,053,140 persons received benefits for December 2003. This number included 29,547,530 retired workers, 4,898,040 widows and widowers, 5,867,460 disabled workers, 2,773,630 wives and husbands, and 3,966,480 children. Social Security beneficiaries represented 15.8 percent of the total population and 90.8 percent of the population aged 65 or older.

Retired workers received an average monthly benefit of $922; widows and widowers, $866 (non-disabled widows and widowers, $888); disabled workers, $862; and wives and husbands of retired and disabled workers, $450. Average benefits for children of retired, deceased, and disabled workers were $446, $603, and $254, respectively.

Monthly benefits for December 2003 totaled $39.6 billion. Of this amount, $28.7 billion was paid to retired workers and their spouses and children, $5.4 billion to survivors, and $5.5 billion to disabled workers and their spouses and children. Average and total monthly benefits include the 2.1 percent cost-of-living increase effective December 2003.

In Wisconsin, benefits were paid to 924,150 persons. This number included 622,330 retired workers, 91,290 widows and widowers, 96,780 disabled workers, 50,230 wives and husbands, and 63,520 children. Social Security beneficiaries represented 16.3 percent of the total population of the state and 90.5 percent of the state's population aged 65 or older.

Retired workers in Wisconsin received an average of $944 per month; widows and widowers, $919; disabled workers, $860; and wives and husbands of retired and disabled workers, $479. Average benefits for children were $501 for children of retired workers, $640 for children of deceased workers, and $255 for children of disabled workers.

Monthly benefits for December 2003 totaled $809 million. Of this amount, $615 million was paid to retired workers and their spouses and children, $104 million to survivors, and $90 million to disabled workers and their spouses and children.

Supplemental Security Income

Supplemental Security Income (SSI) is a federal cash assistance program that provides monthly payments to low-income aged, blind, and disabled persons in the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the Northern Mariana Islands. The program is based on nationally uniform eligibility standards and payment levels. The federal SSI payment is determined by the recipient's countable income, living arrangement, and marital status. As of January 2004, the maximum monthly federal SSI payment for an individual living in his or her own household and with no other countable income is $564, and for a couple, $846.

A state may supplement the payment levels of all or selected categories of recipients. These supplemental payments may be administered by the state or the Social Security Administration.

In December 2003, 6,902,364 persons received federally administered SSI payments: 1,232,778 were aged and 5,669,586 were disabled or blind. A total of 1,989,737 recipients were aged 65 or older, 3,953,248 were aged 18 to 64, and 959,379 were under 18.

The total number of persons receiving a Social Security payment, a federally administered SSI payment, or both was 51,534,142. Federally administered payments totaled $3.1 billion in December 2003: $2.7 billion in federal SSI payments and $357 million in state supplements. The average federally administered payment was $417. Aged persons averaged $342, and disabled and blind persons, $433.

In addition, 551,469 persons in 31 states received state-administered payments in December 2003 that totaled $68.6 million.

In Wisconsin, 88,736 persons—8,818 aged and 79,918 disabled and blind—received federally administered SSI payments in December 2003. A total of 16,221 recipients were aged 65 or older, 57,086 were aged 18 to 64, and 15,429 were under 18.

Federal SSI payments totaled $35.3 million. The average federal payment was $374 overall: $227 for aged recipients and $391 for disabled and blind recipients. In addition, 95,706 persons in Wisconsin received state-administered supplementation in December 2003 that totaled $9.6 million.

In December 2003, the total number of persons in Wisconsin receiving a Social Security benefit, a federally administered SSI payment, or both was 981,247.
